This 1985 Milestone is dedicated to a man we all love and known as the "Big Guy" on Campus (6'4" tall and 220 pounds). Though he use to coach athletics, he is still affectionately known as "Coach."

His lectures are quite animated as you race to scribble notes, always three points behind his rapidly firing run-on sentences that only cease when he takes a gulp of coffee, or adds "... just a little humor" quickly followed by "No, but really ..."

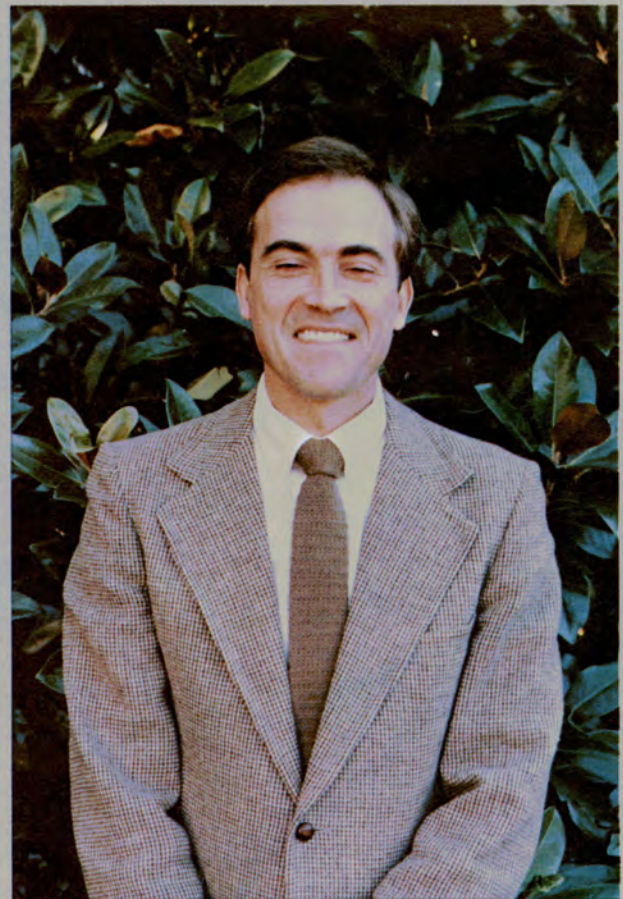

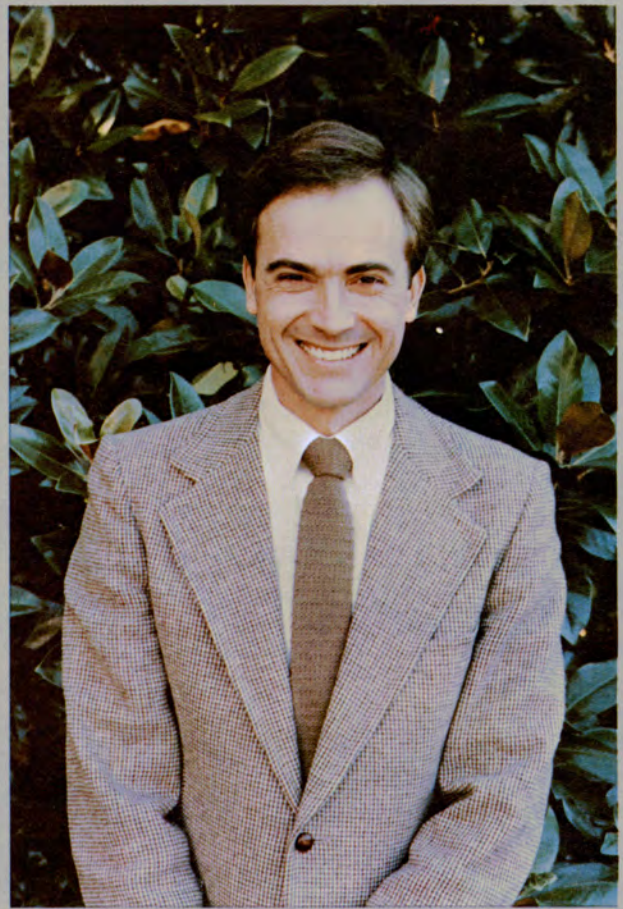

When you ask him a question, it is as though you have put up an instant stop sign in front of a freight train going eighty miles an hour. Yet, he always listens carefully and respectfully while you have the feeling that inside his head his computer-brain has just engaged into a retrieval program and you can hear the machinery whizzing and grinding.

He is approachable, open and quite affable. When you need a confidant, his empathy surges out to greet you; his compassion consoles and comforts.

As a role-model and teacher, he has diligently pointed toward Christ instilling in us — "Therefore, since we have so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, let us also lay aside every encumbrance, and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, fixing our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God" (Heb. 12:1-2).

For all we have received from you — thanks "Coach."

Departments of Study and Classes

The Department of Pastoral Ministries seeks to train the students with four specific goals: knowledge, character, skills, and leadership. (1) A successful pastor must have a thorough knowledge of the Bible, theology, and his world. He must possess clearly articulated spiritual answers for his people. (2) He also must have a godly character. In ministry, knowledge without a corresponding life is undesirable. (3) He must have practical skills of ministry — preaching, teaching, evangelism, counselling, interpersonal relationship, as well as administration. (4) In addition to the above he must develop leadership qualities. Without it nothing significant can happen. Pastors with these strengths are sorely needed everywhere.

† Dr. Kim

Five years ago a pastoral ministry was something I had never considered. God began working in my life, however, showing me that this is what He has called me to do. Often I have felt as Moses did at the burning bush, inadequate and reluctant, wondering how God could possibly use me. But time and again He has shown me that He can use me, and He has helped me to grow and develop greatly during my time of preparation here at WBC. There is a great need today for sound biblical preaching and leadership in many of our churches, and through God's grace I hope to play a part in meeting that need, making an impact on the lives of people for our Lord Jesus Christ.

† Doug Wantz

There had always been two loves in my life, the Lord, but also working in radio. It was a joy getting paid for doing what I loved — playing records and talking. But time has a way of sharpening our perspectives. As I realized after ten years in radio, I had already met all but one goal. Yet still I was unsatisfied and unfulfilled as I looked back on my vagabond life in radio. I realized that even though I had loved the business and given it my best, radio didn't love me back. In fact it seemed more to hate and use me.

Considering the Lord, I knew He loved me and had planted in me a love for Him and people. I knew He had gifted me in certain areas making me suitable to a pastoral or teaching ministry. So I asked myself, "Why give your life to a business that can't love you back when you can give your life for One who you know loves you standing ready to bless a wholehearted commitment to Him?" I decided then to get a Bible education preparing for Christian ministry. I know by God's working in my life, and drawing me by His love that, as a hymnwriter once said, "Jesus led me all the way."

† Ron Smith

Early in my Christian life, the truth of 1 John 4:19 was engrained in me: "We love because He first loved us." This became practical in allowing me to heed to the command "but through love serve one another", (Gal. 5:13). The desire to serve and lead others has been my motivation to enter the "Shepherding" ministry. This desire has been strengthened by reading Paul's letters to Timothy, which gave me a vision for the local church.

† Gary Weeden

For if I preach the gospel, I have nothing to boast of, for I am under compulsion; for woe is me if I do not preach the gospel. For if I do this voluntarily, I have a reward; but if against my will, I have a stewardship entrusted to me. What then is my reward? That, when I preach the gospel, I may offer the gospel without charge, so as not to make full use of my right in the gospel. For though I am free from all men, I have made myself a slave to all, that I might win the more.

Department of Missions

The educational objectives of the Department of Missions are:

1. To give instruction both in the theory and methodology of evangelism and Christian missions.
2. To condition students to the need of cross-cultural and urban evangelism.
3. To instruct all students in the cultural patterns of major mission fields.
4. To provide prospective in the history, expansion, and methods of Christianity through missionary enterprise.

5. To instruct in the principles of indigenous missions.

6. To equip students with essential skills related to evangelism.

These courses help prepare a student for the following vocations: General Missionary, Missionary — Church Planter, or Missionary Evangelist.

Missions is a direct expression of the great love of God for all people. God gave his own dear Son to bring redemption to the lost world. Christ's faithful sacrifice is the good news, to us and through us, to all nations. He paid the price to reclaim this fallen world for the Father. God's love designed the plan to reach the earth's unreached through individual disciples empowered by the Holy Spirit and sent to even the remotest part of the earth. Washington Bible College exists in order to see that all its students may be better equipped to fulfill the place God has designed for them in His sovereign plan for world evangelization.

† Joseph D. Spinella,
Missions Department Chairman

Ever since Washington Bible College was founded, it has been fully committed to the work of teaching and giving practical training in Evangelism and Missions. In class work, in Christian service assignments, and in summer missionary ministries, students are encouraged to realize the implications of the Great Commission and to become involved in reaching the lost for Christ everywhere. Seventeen years have passed since I came to Washington Bible College from New Zealand to help promote this purpose, and I have been greatly blessed and much rewarded by seeing the number of our graduates who have accepted the responsibilities of this ministry both at home and around the world.

† Dr. William Miller

I believe that every Christian should be world minded. Not only should we have an intellectual knowledge of the nations that surround us, but also a spiritual understanding of them to see them through the eyes of God. Our Missions Department hopes to not only accomplish these goals but to also prepare people for actively ministering cross culturally. These goals are reached in two ways, through the classroom and through practical experience. All missions minors are now required to spend at least one summer in a ministry internship. My summer experiences in Church Planting work have been of great benefit to me. I was able to put into practice all that I have learned in the classroom. Through the Missions Department I will be prepared for a cross cultural ministry. The students here at WBC are Christians and are commanded to make disciples of all nations, whether through Prayer, Giving, or Going. Anyone who is preparing for a ministry here in North America must have a good understanding of World Missions. The goal of our department is to give all students a whole understanding of World Missions.

Department of Music Ministries

The educational objectives of the Department of Music Ministries are:

1. To complement the basic core curriculum of the College by encouraging the entire student body to interest, appreciation, and participation in the field of music.
2. To provide the specialized training necessary to prepare certain qualified students for a ministry through music.
3. To assist the student in formulating a biblically-oriented philosophy of musical ministry.

Professor E. James Bos
Music Ministries Chairman

There is a need today for gifted, trained musicians who love God deeply, know God's Word thoroughly, live its principles transparently, and communicate its message effectively. The purpose of the Music Ministries Department is to prepare this kind of musician for ministry in local churches, Christian schools, and various mission opportunities. We believe that the best way to do this is through the combination of a Bible major with a music minor, a program which emphasizes musical excellence with spiritual warmth.

My motivation to serve the Lord through a musical ministry came by several means: the guidance of Christian parents, the examples of countless persons, and training at a Bible school with a high standard of music ministry. My goal may be stated in the words of (Gal. 5:13) "By love serve one another."

The training of musicians for church related ministries is central to our purpose in the Music Ministries Dept. of the college. My responsibility is teaching students to play the piano and organ, both the technique and musicianship that will prepare them to function with confidence in a music ministry. I believe that this fits into the total purpose of Bible College training because music study contributes to the learning of discipline, and its ultimate objective is the sharing of one's God-given talent in ministry to people for God's glory.

Ephesians 5:18b-19

The College Choir provides an opportunity for students with musical abilities to further develop those abilities and use them in service to others for God's glory. The Choir ministry is based on the belief that anything which represents an Almighty God must be done in the best way possible. It must also be done in a way which communicates effectively to people. For these reasons, much time is spent in learning the techniques of tone production and musical expression. The lessons that are learned through Choir are not all musical, however. If there is one topic that is stressed above any other, it is the need for unity among the members. Without this, the Choir cannot have an effective ministry to others. The Choir, therefore, becomes a building force in the lives of the members as it attempts to reach out to others with a message of the love of Christ.

Music plays an important role in the ministry because it allows the congregation to actively participate in the worship service. Another goal of music is to seek to expand and raise the concept of worship by stimulating spiritual growth and Christian maturity through the hymn tests. The music used in worship should help the worshipper to come to a better understanding of God.

Department of Educational Ministries

Church Education

Christian Education has value when its objectives honor our Lord's commission to "make disciples of all nations . . . teaching them to observe everything I commanded you . . ."

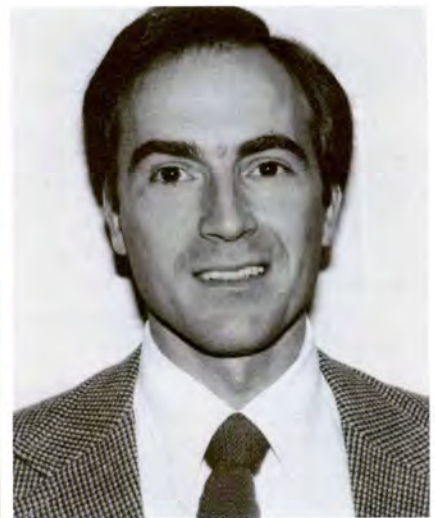

Discipleship is the soul of Christian Education. Discipleship means Christlikeness; its cost is absolute; its method is meditating on, obeying, and experiencing Christ Himself.

Christian Education must stress the quality of the believer's relationship with the only true God;

the sanctification of the believer's spirit, soul and body; and the loving attitude of the believer to all men, in every relationship and circumstance!

Ultimately, Christian Education that is worthy of the name is not satisfied with a mere external evaluation of Christian growth and maturity but evaluates spirituality in light of "abiding in the word," "loving one another," and "bearing spiritual fruit."

Recreation Administration

Physical Education at the Bible College is not a ministry in and of itself. However, P.E., whether it be in the classroom, intramural, or varsity level, allows the student to gain a practical knowledge that can supplement whatever ministry the Lord has called him/her to. Working with others under physical and emotional stress towards a common goal is a major component of one's physical education. Physical education teaches discipline, responsibility, and self control, attributes that are essential in any Christian endeavor. The athletic arm of physical education allows the student direct confrontation with winning and losing. How one handles success and/or defeat indicates the level of his/her walk with Christ. At all times regardless of the competition or outcome the student should strive to do his/her best under the leadership of Christ. The physically educated person will, for the most part, be a better prepared, more well-rounded individual that the Lord can use for His glory.

Mr. Geoff Wheeler
Director of Recreation Administration

As far back as I can remember, I have been involved in sports. Boy's clubs, pick-up games, or just playing catch with my Dad or brothers, were all a part of my growing up. I'll never forget how excited I was when my Dad volunteered to be an assistant coach on my football team. Throughout my high school and college basketball careers, my parents have been extremely supportive. They have helped make sports all that more enjoyable for me. Maybe that is why I never want to leave the area of sports. God has given me the ability to play basketball, and He has taught me many lessons through it. I would like to give back at least a part of what He has given me by having a ministry with High School athletes, preferably in the area of coaching. That is why I chose the Recreation Administration program. It gives me special instruction in how to minister in a Christian school through the medium of sports. I believe God has called me to teach/coach in a Christian school, and that is what I am looking forward to doing after my graduation in May.

Counseling Ministry

Professor Freeda F. Spinella
Professor of Counseling

"What shall I do? When I pray Dear Heavenly Father, memories of my alcoholic father beating me fill my mind, and I can't continue." Problems can serve as barriers to personal spiritual growth. This came up many times when I was discipling someone on the mission field. I discovered that when I learned how to counsel someone with problems that are too heavy to bear alone (Gal. 6:2) that I also broke down a barrier to their spiritual growth. As a Christian counselor it is my goal to model and share the unconditional love of Christ. This may involve encouragement, teaching, or confrontation. It always involves the wisdom and guidance of the Holy Spirit. The constant goal is to counsel in such a way that the individual will grow to be more Christlike. This means to seek to love them as Christ does — unconditionally. John 13:34-35 teaches us that the love we have for one another is the distinguishing mark of the Christian. This means to seek the best for others and help them to become more responsible and effective as members of the body of Christ.

Counseling — leading people to Jesus Christ's unconditional love, using God's Word to build people into His image. Counseling — hope, encouragement, support, and compassion — seeing lives change by the grace of God.

My own life prior to salvation at 22 was characterized by a broken home, Mom's remarriage, resulting in continual fighting, my own sense of hopelessness, and a lack of purpose in life. God reached my heart with His unconditional love and rebuilt my life on the firm foundation of His word. He alone can meet the deep needs of our hearts with an unfailing love.

I worked in Psychiatry for 4-yrs., and the conviction grew to reach people with God's Word. Countless faces of hopelessness, despair, hurt, and lack of purpose ran across my path. A counseling minor can equip me to more effectively reach people's deepest needs with God's Word.

And we urge you, brethren, admonish the unruly, encourage the fainthearted, help the weak, be patient with all men.

The elementary education exists for the purpose of adequately training teachers to effectively communicate the truth of God to children. A child is a unique personality created by God for a specific purpose. What is that purpose? It is that each child shall come to know the Lord Jesus as Saviour, develop in Christian character, realize his fullest academic potential, think biblically in all areas of life, and serve God daily to the best of his ability.

To accomplish this inspiring, challenging, and rewarding purpose, the Lord has called teachers. Having been directly called of God for the task of teaching, the Christian teacher must have a good Bible background, a biblical philosophy of education, a genuine love for pupils, a desire to serve them and their parents, a mastery of the subject matter, and a proficiency in those teaching techniques which aid pupils in learning. Out of a heart full of gratitude to the Lord for my Christian instruction and training, I count it a joy and privilege to be a part of the teacher training program at the Washington Bible College, where with God's enabling, I may commit to faithful prospective teachers the things which I have learned, so they may be able to teach others.

When I was a college freshman, I made up my mind there were 3 jobs I never wanted — secretary, nurse, or school teacher. But when I met Miss Donella Smith, my professor of American history in my college Sophomore year, all my ideas about teaching school changed forever. Her lectures were fascinating, her manner was kind, and she knew her subject. She made learning an intriguing challenge. She made me want to be a teacher. When I went to chapel several days later, my resolve was strengthened when Dr. Bob Jones, Sr. leaned over the pulpit and seemingly looked every one of us 3,000 students in the eye and said, "To the Christian, there is no difference between the secular and the sacred. All things are sacred. If you are going to be a school teacher, be a good one, because it's a holy calling." So that was it. I made my decision. And I have never regretted it — not even through that very difficult first year. When I think about the incredible influence I can have on a young mind, I know that only a student's parents can have a greater one. And so, I am overwhelmed by my responsibility to my students. I have thought often about some of the statements I made to English classes early in my teaching experience and have been appalled. Thankfully, my Lord taught me to be teachable, and I have never stopped learning — nor will I! One lesson I have learned is that I can not teach what I should or like I should without God's help. So I've learned to give myself and my classes to Him when I wake up each morning before my feet hit the floor. In fact, I love to teach. And believe it or not, I am always eager for each new semester to begin after a long holiday. Loving it as I do, teaching English thrills me.

† Mrs. Catherine Anthony

The decision to choose teaching as a profession was a gradual one. For the past four years I have been working as a Youth Pastor and I was given the opportunity to work with the children in my church. Enjoying this experience and seeing the different needs that children have, mentally and spiritually; I felt the Lord leading me to teach. I believe that it is important to teach children the basic truths of God's Word while they are young. This helps them to establish a foundation of living for Christ upon which they can build throughout their lives. It is to this that I am committed. The time I have spent in the Elementary Education Program at the Washington Bible College has been, invaluable in preparing me for the classroom.

Class Song: A Mighty Fortress

A mighty fortress is our God, A bulwark never failing; Our helper He, amid the flood of mortal ills prevailing; For still our ancient foe doth seek to work us woe; His craft and power are great, and armed with cruel hate, on earth is not his equal.

As I rejoice and sing the words, "Oh what a wonder that Jesus loves me, even Me," I am continually amazed that one so glorious should love me, a sinner and one in whom there is no good thing. Yet, he died for me to show that his love is real and not just words, In Ephesians

2:4-5, I find revealed in highly expressive and powerful words what has happened to me, whose only sentence should be death and eternal separation from God. Yet as often as I read these decisive words, I am filled with both tears and joy. How great the words. I find myself constrained to live my life for him who loves me so that I might serve and worship Him by serving others. My prayer is that in my weakness I may hear as Paul once did, "my grace is sufficient for thee." At WBC it is His grace that continues to strengthen me in all my academic hardships, and likewise as the Senior Class President, it is His presence in me that causes me to do my best. No less experience do I carry into my ministry that I might assist others to become conformed to the image of His Dear Son.

Letter from the President to the Senior Class

The Lord gave a promise to Joshua that should encourage the hearts of our graduating seniors: "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. Be strong and of good courage" (Joshua 1:5b-6a). One of the primary purposes of WBC/CBS is to equip men and women for leadership in the body of Christ. As you assume leadership positions you need to be reminded of the Lord's provision given to the previous generations of Christian leaders even as Joshua was reminded of God's faithfulness to Moses.

I have written in the flyleaf of my Bible three essential qualities for leadership. I do not know where I read or heard these so I cannot give the proper recognition.

First of all, there is Commitment to the cause. Ours is the greatest of all! I remember the words of David spoken to his jealous brother, "Is there not a cause?" What a privilege to be involved in the most important task on earth, namely the evangelization of the world. And God is looking for men and women totally committed to His cause; His work must be our priority. Dr. Don Hillis once said, "Every man is the product of his priorities." That is so true.

Second, Leadership will give time to the cause. As stewards of God, we shall give an account for our time. As one person said, "Life is like a coin; you can spend it any way you want, but you can only spend it once." Nate Saint, that great missionary martyr said, "I'd rather be dead than live a life of obscure ease in so sick a world." I pray that the Lord will enable you to invest your life in service for Him so that at the end of your life, you will not see wasted years. Every man's life and ministry is determined by a Sovereign God, and we know not when we shall stand before Him, but we can live every day for His honor and glory. Jim Elliot used to say, "Wherever you are, be all there. Live to the hilt every situation you believe to be in the will of God." Those are good words that reflect the same truth Paul communicated in Colossians 3:17, "And whatever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him."

Third, leadership will manifest Loyalty to the cause. Be loyal to Jesus Christ and His Holy Word! Be loyal to the person under whom and with whom you work, and when you can no longer be loyal then remove yourself from the place of ministry. At our Lord's Last Supper, we see three different illustrations of the disciples' loyalty. First, we see Judas whose loyalty was based on selfishness. He would be loyal as long as it benefited him and his cause. Then, we see Peter whose loyalty was based on the situation. In the Upper Room he would lay down his life for the Lord, but by the coals of fire with the enemy he denied his Lord. And third, was John whose loyalty was based on sacrifice. As our blessed Lord hung on the Cross, John was the only apostle who stood by Him. And by identifying with the Lord, John could have been crucified as well, but his loyalty went to the extent of sacrifice.

I pray our Lord shall give you a fruitful life and ministry in the leadership of the Church of Jesus Christ. Make sure you are committed to His cause; invest your life and time for that cause; and remain loyal to his cause, that at the end of life He will say to you, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Christ. Love.

Each word evokes a similar response: the former embodies the latter. Christ Himself said, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends". This being true. Christ loved us more than was humanly possible, for "... while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us". He laid down His life for those who despised and rejected Him.

Far from emulating His sacrificial love, I have, however, grown "in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ" during my 4-yrs. in college. I have learned that Christ not only loved us enough to die for us but enough to live for us. The Lord loves through His body, incarnate in the Church.

I thank God for the privilege of getting to know Him through His children I have met at Washington Bible College. I can only hope that the love of Christ is embodied in me. † R. Keith Estes

"Why I Retired Early and Came to WBC"

I graduated from the University of Maryland in January 1951 and started a career which ended April 1980 as a well paid government executive. When I was saved in August 1973, the Lord started graciously working in my life, first in small ways, then in bigger ways. In April 1979 my second son Tom, who was about to graduate from WBC, went home to be with the Lord. This was a big turning point in my life. Even though I was doing an honest, acceptable job for the government, the Lord showed me it was a small job with a big salary. Now I have been promoted to a big job with a small salary.

It's because of His love for me that I can even think about saying I love Him. Exhortations from Hebrews

"Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of a heavenly calling, consider Jesus, the Apostle and High Priest of our confession. (3:1) Therefore, let us fear lest, while a promise remains of entering His rest, any one of you should seem to have come short of it. (4:1) Therefore leaving the elementary teaching about the Christ, let us press on to maturity, not laying again a foundation of repentance from dead works and of faith toward God. (6:1)

Therefore, do not throw away your confidence, which has a great reward. For you have need of endurance, so that when you have done the will of God, you may receive what was promised. (10:35) Therefore, since we have so great a cloud of witness surrounding us, let us also lay aside every encumbrance, and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, fixing our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. (12:1-2) Therefore, strengthen the hands that are weak and the knees that are feeble, and make straight paths for your feet, so that the limb which is lame may not be put out of joint, but rather be healed. (12:12-13) Therefore, since we receive a kingdom which cannot be shaken, let us show gratitude, by which we may offer to God an acceptable service with reverence and awe; for our God is a consuming fire. (12:28-29) Remember those who led you, who spoke the word of God to you; and considering the result of their conduct, imitate their faith. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today, yes and forever. (13:7-8)

As a Bible student, I learned to love through my Lord's life example. He sent friends into my life who challenged me to look away from my own limitations and to depend on His strength to overcome differences. Through His Word in Matt. 11:28-30, He taught me that He wants me to learn from Him and to depend on Him. Through His love He channels friends to help me face difficulties and to accept things I can't change. I thank my Lord for giving me the opportunity to learn to love and accept His love. The Lord Jesus Christ has been most gracious to me. After spending my life acting out in anger, hate and depression, Jesus Christ led me to Himself, and then patiently and gradually to healing from childhood abuse, the suicide of my father and my recovery from alcoholism. My joy is helping others who suffer find the healing love and peace of Jesus Christ who came to seek and save the lost. I once was dead and now I live. To that joy, He added the salvation of my husband and children. I dedicated my life and family to the Lord Jesus Christ and live gratefully in and for Him who first loved me. (2 Corinthians 15:10)

I was born to a family who gave me everything. There was not only an abundance of love but also all of the material things a person could ask for. However, the more I received the more the emptiness increased. There was always a gigantic void within me; it was a chasm as deep as the grand Canyon. Fourteen years ago I met a person who had something I didn't have — a vital relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ. This person was instrumental in my receiving Christ. P.T.L. the Grand Canyon got filled! Ever since then I have entreated the Lord for growth in Him. Thus, by His love, I am a student at WBC for this very reason. Since all that we can see is going to fade one day, we should be giving ourselves to that which is eternal. Nothing else satisfies!

John Wilson

In John 15:12 Christ said, "This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you." That command which Jesus Christ articulated is timeless in application. There is only one problem — how much of one's self may one give to his neighbor? John 15:13 says, "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends."

Christ's teachings concerning altruism are constantly reciprocal for each party. It is difficult to fathom the profundity of His teachings, but this I learned from them — I do not live for myself, but for my neighbor.

Over a year ago my family and I moved from New York to Maryland, so I could attend W.B.C. I told the Lord He must sell my home within a few months or we would be out of money. Was that trusting God? My home is still not sold, but I have had the privilege of seeing our Father supply our needs every month. Thank you Father for loving us so much.

Class Song: FRIENDS

With the faith and love God's given, springing from the hope we know, We will pray the joy you will live in, is the strength that now you will show. But we will keep you close as always, it won't even seem you have gone, 'Cause our hearts in big and small ways, will keep the love that keeps us strong.

I was privileged to be born into a Christian home. I trusted the Lord as my Savior at age five and haven't regretted it since. The Lord has really taught me that I need to trust him for my every need. Watching my parents, who are missionaries, live by faith, has really taught me what faith is. I'm really glad that the Lord brought me here because I'm sure that He has many things to teach me.

During the summer, one of the evangelistic teams from W.B.C. came over to our house for neighborhood evangelism. After the meeting, I myself was convicted, and I went to talk to my dad. He reviewed the plan of salvation simply with me, and at age 5, I received Christ as my personal Savior. Now, I am attending WBC to study to become a pastor to serve the Lord who saved me.

Envy, pride, bitterness, and strife was the sum total of my empty life. Involved with drugs and involved with drinking, my life was continually sinking until the hand of The Lord through His mercy and His love turned my attention toward Him above. Only He could fill that emptiness with His eternal love. I've only been saved some three years or so and my biggest concern is that I might grow spiritually in order to spread the Gospel wherever I go.

My testimony is one of being or acting like a Christian for 17 years. It was not until January 26, 1984 that I actually became a Christian. I got tired of living the life of a fake and decided that God could give me the peace I was seeking. My future plans are to attend W.B.C. for one year and then transfer to Bryan College to study for a health & phys. ed. major.

Jesus saved me when I was 10 in February of 1977 at a concert in my church. After the singer finished singing, he gave his testimony, and the Lord spoke to my heart through it. Teaching

Since the Lord saved me through His boundless grace in 1974, He has never ceased discipling me through showers of blessing. Looking at the events of my life through the eyes of faith, I have seen the Lord teach me of His mercy, forgiveness, and wholly gracious love. God has given me a husband who models Christ-like love, a ministry of healing, and — most recently — the gift of a baby son. I cannot praise God enough, for He is responsible for all that my life has become!

The love of Christ constrains us . . . compels us . . . leaves us no choice. We preach His Name to the nations because we love the Name. We love Him because He first loved us. Staff

Adult Education Department

Our purpose is well stated in II Timothy 3:16,17, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works." Our goal, then, in cooperation with local pastors, is to strengthen local churches by helping the believers mature in Christ and develop their spiritual gifts for effective service. This brings honor and glory to God which is our ultimate purpose. Our method is to provide competent and consistent Bible study in evening schools taught by qualified, spiritual men.

The Adult Education Program is a Bible training program leveled academically for mature, concerned adults. It is designed to enrich and equip church members to serve in a wide range of church-related ministries.

The Correspondence School

Formal classroom Bible study is not possible for a large number of adults. Because of this, Washington Bible College has brought the classroom to many homes, from Maine to Washington and Florida to California, through correspondence study.

The correspondence school had its beginnings in 1917 with the founding of the American Home Bible Institute. Mr. George A. Miles was president of this institute when it merged with several others in 1938 to form Washington Bible Institute (now College). Through the years correspondence study has continued as an integral part of Washington Bible College's outreach ministry.

The most popular courses are those of Old and New Testament Survey, and such practical courses as Personal Evangelism and the Christian Home and Family. Mr. Miles has written the courses on the Gospel of John, Bible Prophecy, and Personal Evangelism, while Dr. Fowler has contributed one on the Holy Spirit. Other members of the college and siminary faculties have written various Bible book studies, Christian Evidences, How to Study the Bible, and Dynamic Christian Living.

Many of our courses utilize textbooks produced by the Evangelical Teacher Training Association, and lead to the awarding of an E.T.T.A. certificate (awarded jointly by Washington Bible College and E.T.T.A.).

I believe that the use of the radio is a tremendous way to broadcast the gospel of Jesus Christ in to the homes of those who have been blinded by the Prince of this world. God can certainly use modern technology to proclaim His message to the World.

Mr. Phillip Bena

Mrs. Muriel Fletcher

Washington Bible College seeks to provide every student with a total educational experience. In order for that to be accomplished, a student must first learn biblical truths and then have the opportunity to put those truths into practice.

The Christian Service Department is vitally involved in providing a means whereby students can translate classroom information into practical ministry.

This department sponsors and places students in a variety of ministries conducted in cooperation with various churches, institutions, and organizations. For example, WBC students are involved in such ministries as "Open Air Evangelism, Hospital Visitation, Jail Ministry, Nursing Home, Campus Evangelism, Youth Detention Center, Jewish Evangelism, Puppet Ministry, Pastorates, Sunday School Classes, Youth and Childrens Work, and Church Visitation. Through these avenues of service, students have the opportunity to demonstrate in a tangible way the love of Christ to a needy world.

Speed, speed they work, cast sloth
away;
It is not thus that souls are won.*

*Toil on, faint not, keep watch and pray,
Be wise the erring soul to win;
Go forth into the world's highway,
Compel the wanderer to come in.*

Over the past 4 years, the name JoAnne LaRue has become synonymous with Open Air Evangelism. Whether for a Christian Service assignment or for the Week of Evangelism, if there is an open air meeting taking place, chances are good that JoAnne will be there. It was during the first semester of her freshmen year that the Lord began to plant the love for open air work in her heart. She believes open air work is important "because people who need to hear the Gospel are not coming to us and asking for it.

We must take it to them where they are. By taking the Gospel to them where they are comfortable they feel less threatened and are more willing to listen to the message. "After, graduation, JoAnne plans to be involved full-time with Open Air Campaigners feeling that this is the main ministry God has called her to. Her duties will include, follow-up of those reached in meetings, secretarial duties, and being involved in the open air meetings several days each week.

Organization also plays an important role in Mrs. Satta's ministry. Tracey Ward comments, "Her organizational abilities surpass anyone that I have ever met. She is diligent, patient, and steadfast." Included in her goals for the library are providing the best services, facilities, and materials possible, and instilling in the library staff an appreciation for and knowledge concerning a ministry through library service.

The Admissions and Registrar's Office has as its main mission to serve the student. How is this accomplished? Before you come to the College, it is the Admissions Office that sends you a catalog, counsels you regarding admission, and processes your application. We are happy to be a part of the ministry of Washington Bible College. Some of our duties include the following: all monies (tuition payments, contributions, etc.) are received and all payments (bills, payroll, etc.) are made through our office; the switchboard is answered, mail is distributed and visitors are greeted; financial statements (e.g. the budget and monthly reports) originate from this office, and a record of all money transactions is kept. We are also responsible for advising students in the area of financial aid and assiting in student employment.

Mr. James Schwarm, Data Processing Chief, has been employed by the college for several years. Presently he is in charge of computer operations and is the only one who works in the computer room. He is very devoted to his task of seeing that every detail is just right. Much of the time his mind is focused on his work, whether it is while he walks through the hallway at school or tries to sleep at night. He has a very willing character — always ready to help someone in need. When you hear a "whistle" in the hallway, you can be sure that he is nearby. He is our uplifter on those days that seem sort of blue. We thank the Lord for him and his ministry here at W.B.C.

My ministry here at WBC has been as secretary to the Faculty. I do typing, edit, and type the bulletins (Faculty/Staff and Student), keep appointments, and take telephone messages.

I like to think of my position here at WBC as not just a "job" but a ministry and a service for the Lord. I ask the Lord each day to help me be not only efficient in the performance of my tasks, but also a help to people, "to be people oriented instead of task oriented".

I have enjoyed my life here at WBC. The Faculty/Staff and Students have been a source of encouragement to me.

Public Affairs

Miss Carol Potter, Mrs. Linda Folk, Mrs. Doris Marquis, and Mr. Robert Evans.

"Hey, that's my hair!"

"You don't have to be crazy to work here, but it helps!"

It is the responsibility of the Public Affairs Office to keep alumni, pastors, contributors, and other friends aware of God's working through the ministry of Washington Bible College and Capital Bible Seminary. This takes place through personal contacts, the scheduling of student gospel teams, advertisement brochures, press releases, and other publications. Special events such as Parents' Day, the Annual Christmas Concert/ Buffet, Alumni Homecoming, and other activities attract many people to the campus.

The Alumni Placement Service assists alumni in finding opportunities for full-time ministry and, of course, is of great assistance to local churches and other organizations that are looking for qualified personnel.

From the printers, mailroom personnel, graphics, and layout staff to each secretary and coordinator, dedication to the Lord and Washington Bible College characterizes each life. They are the ones who reach into homes to share God's work in Lanham.

† Bob Evans

I had only been at WBC a few months and was looking for a part-time student-secretary when Carol dropped by my office for an interview. When she shared that she had an Associate Degree in Secretarial Science and experience in a legal office, I knew she was the right person. That was thirteen years ago, and we have been working together ever since.

Two outstanding qualities have characterized Carol, loyalty and faithfulness. She has consistently supported me and our work at WBC and CBS. She is an enthusiast for what the schools stand for and are endeavoring to accomplish. She supports them with her prayers and resources and encourages others to do the same. As an alumnus she does much to encourage other alumni to continue their support for the school.

For thirteen years Carol has faithfully fulfilled her responsibilities and routinely done more. When staff cuts have been made, rather than letting important tasks go undone, she has taken on more. The last minute jobs and special events constantly call for "over time" without compensation. She is always willing to go the extra mile.

I thank the Lord for bringing Carol Potter to WBC and for the tremendous asset she has been to me, WBC, and the work of God. She is loved by her co-workers, steadfast, and immovable in a work that is being done for the Lord and that bears much fruit for the glory of Christ.

Mrs. Bev Saucerman

Mr. A. Max Edgar

Mrs. Beverly Saucerman is the production coordinator and typesetter for the printing department. A 1971 WBC graduate, she had the unique privilege of being a student when the college moved to its present location from the downtown campus. She returned to the college to take her present position in July 1975.

Bev was raised in a Christian home and regularly attended a small Bible Church near Westminster, Md. At the age of 9, the Holy Spirit convicted her of the need to receive Christ as Saviour and have assurance of spending eternity with Him. She was actively involved in church activities in her teen years. It was through the influence of her pastor, a WBC alumnus, and a friend who was at that time a WBC student, that she came to WBC.

In April 1983, Bev married Jim Saucerman, Jim is currently a senior at WBC, taking classes in the Evening College Program. After his graduation, Jim and Bev would like to be involved in full-time ministry for the Lord.

An arm of the Public Affairs Office is the Graphics/Printing Department. This department represents the Lord Jesus Christ through the printed page. Part of our responsibility includes photocopying class notes, exams, bulletins and other office materials. We are also responsible for most of the school's publications, from designing to mailing. The typical publication begins with its design and layout. Once the edited copy has been typeset and pasted up, it is proof-read by various faculty/staff members. Paper and ink are then chosen and the copy is now ready to go to the press. Our presses produce well over one million copies annually. Once printed, the mail-room addresses and mails the publication to our more than 25,000 constituency.

Financial Aid

Miss Carrie Armstrong

Going to college today is extremely expensive as all WBC students know! The Federal and State Governments have budgeted funds to assist students who have financial needs and all a student must do is fill out a financial aid form. The Federal Government has five programs — Pell Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL), National Direct Student Loan (NDSL), and the College Work-Study. Two of these programs are gifts of money (the two grants), two are loan programs and one is job-based on financial need and the other is arbitrary-based upon your State Senator's specifications. At WBC, the Financial Aid Office administers these programs as well as Student Employment, counsels parents and students regarding financial aid, is the VA representative, assists foreign students, coordinates student health insurance and handles WBC scholarships. Last year around $536,000 of the WBC budget was WBC scholarships, Federal Aid and State Grants.

When I came to WBC in July of 1983, I had no financial training and through the love and grace of Christ, I have learned and am learning financial aid procedures. The best way I seem to learn is through mistakes and I thank God that the students, staff and government officials are forgiving, patient, and loving. I really enjoy working at WBC especially in my involvement with the students.

Bookstore

What are the essentials of having a successful bookstore? A large store? A large stock? A large Staff? These may be important to a secular bookstore, but to a bookstore at a Bible College, the standards are different. As with the Christian life, we serve because of the Love of Christ. Having experienced this love in a personal way (Gal. 2:20), we have our basis for service in the WBC Bookstore.

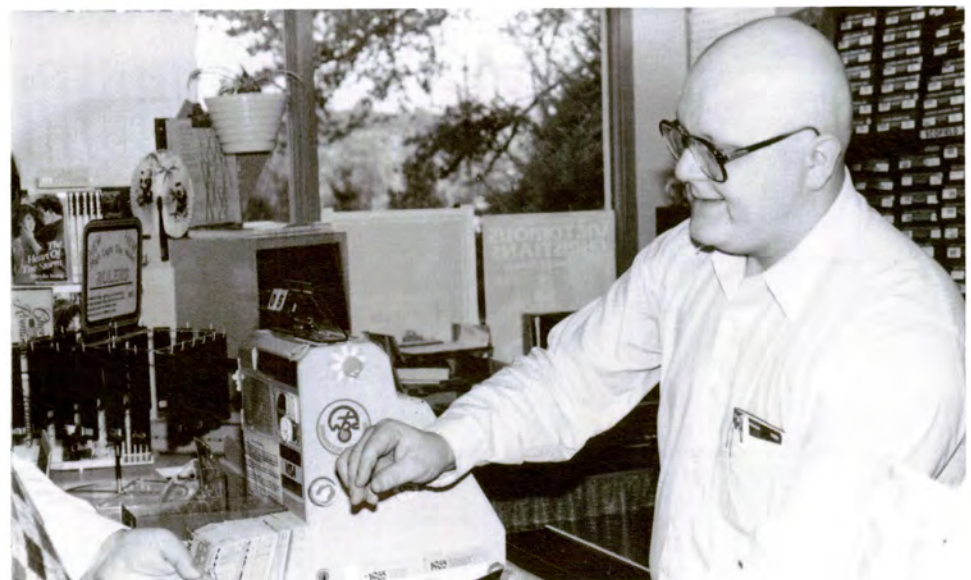

1) We desire for all to know the love of Christ (Eph. 3:19), first and foremost to know Christ personally, and after that, more deeply in all increased knowledge. Studying the right book for the right subject helps achieve this goal.

2) We desire to show the sacrificial aspect of the love of Christ (Gal. 2:20). We serve because we are Christ's own. Going out of our way to special-order a book or gift item for our customers is a way to show this love.

3) Lastly, by our lives, we attempt to be imitative of the love of Christ by our one-on-one relations with the public and students.

We at the Bookstore try to be different in our service to you because Christ has made a difference in us. Stop by. See our gifts, books, gift items and cards. See the difference a good book can make!

Tributes are occasionally easy to write. One has only to call attention to a person's outstanding qualities which we appreciate on a personal basis. Mrs. Evelyn Long exemplifies many such admirable traits which make her a valuable asset to the ministry of W.B.C. Employed by the Bookstore for over nine years, her ministry has been marked by unstinting devotion to even the most tedious "chores" such as book-keeping. In addition, her refined tastes and capable selection have proved valuable in developing a quality line of gift items. Her gracious concern and consistent temperament have enriched both customers and fellow-employees. Her influence extends beyond the Bookstore in her involvement with personal counseling and teaching a course on Christian Home and Family (with her husband Dr. Carlton Long). Her life is an encouragement to others to strive toward Christian 'ideals' in following God's direction. Having three children in fulltime Christian ministry is a tribute to her success.

Being a servant is the stuff of which the Christian life is made. If we forget that, we become unusable, but usually we're thankful for the chance to serve — right? That's the blessing of working in the maintenance department; the opportunity to serve.

The variety of work here keeps life interesting, too. Beyond the normal grounds care, repairs, and cleaning (that hall has never shined so!) there have been roads to build and a half dozen buildings to construct.

It's also interesting to see the Lord provide people for His work. He has brought together people with special skills to make a team. Hugh Underwood is a heating and air conditioning specialist, and Richard Fincham makes heavy equipment look easy. Dave Rohrer is our mechanic, and Randy Caudill covers a wide range of work from fencing to plumbing. Me? . . . I'm the carpenter of the group, but Seminary is finished and God will soon move me to another ministry. Who will He send in my place? Leroy Blevins, who supervises the crew, has a tough reputation but he's a good man to work under. His secretary is Marie Schubert . . . now there's a job with variety!

To our dear friend and co-worker Gary Butler, who has been with the Maintenance Department since 1978. We have seen great growth in Gary's ability as a carpenter as well as in many other jobs and especially in his spiritual life. One of the things most evident in Gary is his patience and long suffering when he has had many jobs assigned at the same time. He never complains with "I can only do one job at a time," but very pleasantly appreciate a man with these qualities, and I am sure that I speak for the rest of the Maintenance Department.

Food Service

I consider the Food Service Department to be both an exciting and a challenging area of service. It is exciting to minister at the College, and I have tremendous joy in seeing the needs of students, faculty and staff met. It is also challenging because there is a range of needs to be met, and so there is the necessity for us to be creative in trying to find new alternatives and solutions in making meals more appealing. But the Lord is faithful in His provision. This year He provided a charcoal grill which enables our menus to be more varied. We're so grateful for these contributions.

I am thankful to the Lord for giving me this opportunity to be at the Washington Bible College. I consider it to be a privilege to serve both Him and the College.

I consider Sandy Reak a valued employee because she has a deep-rooted concern for people. She views her job in food service as more than merely providing meals but rather as an opportunity to minister and meet needs. Her positive attitude is an outstanding contribution to Food Service because it helps to create an atmosphere and climate of friendliness and warmth as people have their meals. Sandy is always willing to "walk the extra mile," and she does it with a glad and gracious spirit as unto the Lord. I thank the Lord that He has brought to Food Service dedicated people such as Sandy who delight in giving of themselves to bring joy to others.

Like father, like son! Dean Hirt and Jesse.

Family day is always a special day at WBC. Along with the shortened classes, it is a day of fun and relaxation. It is a chance to get to know those people who are very seldom seen but are very much involved in the college, that is the families of students, faculty and staff. The day started off with students and their families attending classes, meeting professors, and getting first hand experience of a WBC academic day. At the end of classes, a chapel service was held where guests were introduced and the children were given a chance to pick a student to be their "adopted parent" for the day. These students were to "guide" the children through the games and activities that followed chapel and lunch. Later in the day a softball game was held between the faculty and students. The game was close, but the faculty came out on top 6-5. It was a great day to get together with our loved ones as a united family.

Youth Rally

Rev. Lonie with a vivid illustration.

Every year WBC holds a special week of lectures which focuses on a particular topic. This year our guest speaker was Rev. Don Lonie who is from the Assembly Counseling Service in Farmington Hills, Michigan. The week started out with a youth rally on Saturday night, attended by youth from neighboring churches. During the week, Rev. Lonie centered his messages on the book of Ruth and spoke on one chapter each day. On Monday he spoke on dedication and emphasized that the decisions you make today will go with you to the grave. Tuesday his topic was, "The steps of a good man follow the Lord." On Wednesday, he spoke on the subject of being a leader and that in order to be a leader you must be able to follow. Chapter 4 on Thursday centered around the message that marriage is either sacred or scarred. Rev. Lonie challenged us to think about our relationship with God and our decisions, for any made out of the will of God will affect us for the rest of our lives.

Inauguration Day

September 15, 1984 was an important day in the history of WBC and CBS as the school and its guests looked back at the exciting things God had done under the leadership of President Miles and ahead to what God is going to do under the leadership of President Fletcher. There were many delegates from colleges and seminaries as well as public officials at the inaugural service. The service recognized the accomplishments of President Miles as the second President of WBC and CBS, as well as demonstrated support of our third President, Dr. Harry E. Fletcher. The service was followed by lunch for visiting delegates, faculty, staff, and families as well as other activities centered toward allowing the WBC/CBS family to become better acquainted with President Fletcher and his family.

International Picnic

Patrick Bugembe explained to us how you capture and eat ants alive.

"Ugh! That is disgusting!", we said. Later in the day I showed how we catch crabs in traps and store them in a live box off our dock in the water. We then put them in a steamer pot and steamed them live while they clamoured and fought to get out. When cooked we started breaking them apart to eat them.

"Now, that is really disgusting!", Patrick said. With the help of Ginger Arakelian we demonstrated to Patrick, Samuel Ekwue, Emanuel Inyangson, Itauma and Comfort Ekpikhe how to eat them. They did enjoy eating our Chesapeake Bay crabs. As Itauma said, after picking a fresh apple from the orchard out back when he was leaving, "Ah! Fruit of the sea, fruit of the land, and fruits of fellowship! This is really wonderful." And it was for all of us.

Week of Evangelism

Each semester a special week is set aside with a major emphasis on reaching our neighborhood with the gospel of Jesus Christ. Students had many choices of teams on which they could go, including Children's open air, Adult open air and the Campus team. Many people were reached with the gospel, and many people turned their lives over to Christ. Also during the fall semester, we had a special speaker in chapel, Rev. Wendell Calder who is the Founder and Director of the Living Waters Bible Conference in Maine. Rev. Calder delivered some dynamic messages on "If God be God (which He is), why don't we serve Him?" He also explained that we should have a Holy Ground of both Salvation and Submission. He gave us the criteria for the making of a man of God. This was a motivating week as we were challenged to reach people with the Gospel.

During the week of Evangelism, one of the ministries in which the students were involved was that of conducting open air meetings for children in the afternoon and for adults in the evening.

The Director of Open Air Campaigners in Baltimore, Tom Major, led the meetings and students and faculty members participated in literature distribution and in personal witnessing at the end of each meeting.

This ministry provided wonderful opportunities to share the Gospel, and many of those who were counseled made decisions for Christ.

It was proven that this was a most effective evangelistic outreach, and the participants were given much cause to rejoice at what the Lord accomplished through the faithful presentation of the Gospel.

The Lord granted us an unseasonably warm day, and we had the privilege of going over to the University of Maryland to make Christ known.

When we arrived there were many people at various locations on the campus. We first parked our van, and then we dispersed in groups of two.

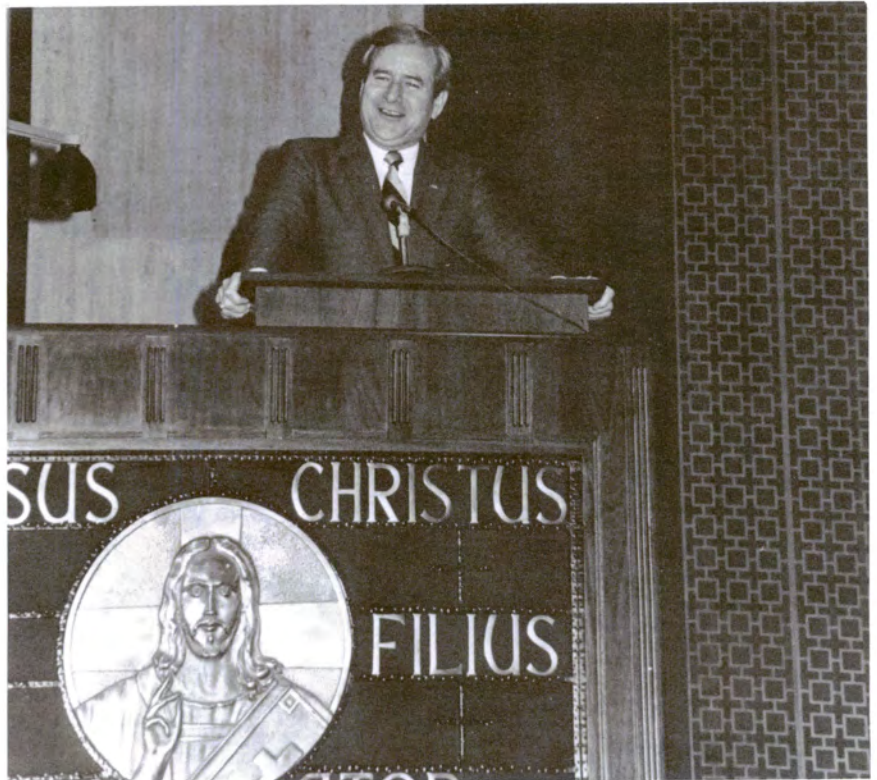

We had a profitable time of ministry, and one young man was born again. Many other people heard the gospel through our conversations and the literature we distributed.

We were grateful to God for this opportunity to serve Him.

He pointed out that as Christians, we have a responsibility to stand up for our moral principles. He also pointed out that we should not be fighting among ourselves, but should be united together for the cause of winning souls to Christ through both the media and personal evangelism.

Christmas

The WBC/CBS Ladies Auxiliary welcomed approximately 3,000 people to the annual Buffet and Christmas program. This year the program was entitled "A Child Is Born". The program gave the college a chance to share with people from as far away as Pennsylvania what Christmas is all about and that we at WBC and CBS share the responsibility of spreading the gospel across the face of the earth. It gave many people the opportunity, for the first time, to see what our purpose and goals are here at the college and seminary.

The program involved an orchestra and the WBC Choir, both under the direction of Mr. E. James Bos, Chairman of the Music Department. Miss Barbara Sherry from the college library was the featured soloist and Dr. Fletcher, President of the Washington Bible College and Capital Bible Seminary, closed the program with a short message.

This program was a great success as thousands of people were not only able to hear of the work of the college but also of the Lord whom we serve.

The four years I spent studying the Word of God have been a learning experience that I will forever value. Through Christian Education, I have been burdened with the concept that in order to help people grow spiritually, I must be able to relate the Word of God to their lives. Thus, my major concern is that people not only memorize the Word but that they see the Christ it reveals and be transformed into His likeness.

Student Life

Student Missions Fellowship

SMF is an organization of students who are interested in becoming informed and involved in missions. We seek not only to provide students with information about missions, but also to provide opportunities to participate in missionary activities. We sponsor prayer groups, organize missionary conferences and promote short-term summer and winter projects. Students have been growing in their awareness of missions. Many are finding a place where they fit into God's plan, while others continue to explore the options and pray about their decisions.

Mini Missionary Conference

The Mini-Missions Conference is one weekend set aside in the Fall of the year devoted to missions focused mainly on students who were involved in missions over the summer. This conference was a particularly challenging one as we had slide presentations from Todd Stroud and Don Stone on their work among Indians in Canada, from Jo Anne LaRue and David J. Snyder about their work in Europe, as well as from one of our guest speakers, Mr. John Fletcher, about his work among the tribal people in Papua, New Guinea. We also had some reports from Alan Thompson on China, Shawn Johnston on Ireland and Jason Green on Bolivia.

Our guest speaker for the Conference was Chuck Davis from the Africa Inland Mission. The weekend climaxed as many students responded to an invitation to totally dedicate their lives in submission to the Lord and in following His will.

Summer Missions

Donny and I felt very inadequate for the task of reaching Indians for Christ, but we found one true way to fulfill our task. We took advantage of the greatest power on earth, a power that changes lives. That power is the love of Christ. Our time was their time; our possessions were their possessions. In any way we could, we tried to show the love of Christ.

We could have talked until we were blue in the face about the redemptive story, or just preached and taught. But they wanted someone to love them. They needed someone to listen, to share, to meet their needs, to understand.

We must show people the love of Christ and allow them to ask us for the very thing we are trying so earnestly to give them.

For the second straight summer, I was able to serve the Lord in Dublin, Ireland. My ministry was with Greater Europe Missions in church planting. Our main goal in Ireland is to establish groups of disciples who will shake the nation for Christ. We are trying to accomplish this through various means. In Ireland our primary method of sharing Christ is through friendship evangelism. Outreaches such as cookouts, soccer games and parties, have proven to be very effective in reaching the Irish people. Also we were involved in door to door work and open air meetings. It was a thrill for me to be involved in building God's Church in the Emerald Isle.

Short Term Language Study Team, Shanghai, China

The Lord once again demonstrated His faithfulness to me by providing over $3,000 in ten weeks to allow me to spend seven weeks in Communist China studying Mandarin Chinese and touring the northern part of the country. I observed people bowing before gold plated Buddhas and praying to these man-made objects (see Isaiah 46:5-7). The love of Christ constrains me to go back to these people, although at first I was very much against it, and share with them how Christ Jesus can set them free for eternity.

The concept of Team Spirit originated 8-yrs. ago when the idea of combining an athletic/musical team became a unique opportunity to reach teens. Throughout the summer of its existence, Team Spirit has had the opportunity to share the gospel and minister to several thousand young people and adults. During my 3-yrs. of traveling I have witnessed the tremendous impact Team Spirit has had on the teens. Since it is an athletic team, we challenge teens in whatever sport they want to play (basketball, volleyball, softball). This breaks down the initial barriers to communication. By the time we have sung to them and speak with them individually we can get into their lives and really challenge them to live for Christ because it seems as though we have known them for a long time. If we can express that we are human and struggle with many of the same things they do yet have experienced victory, they will be more likely to listen and take heed to what we have to say. As with most people, relationships determine responses. Our goal is to build friendships with them in order to get them to respond to the truths found in God's Word.

New Arrivals to Our Faculty Welcome!

Rev. David Hillis

B.A. — LeTourneau College; graduate studies — Wheaton Trinity Seminary; M.R.E. — Liberty Seminary.

Joining the faculty in January 1985 as Dean of Students, Mr. Hillis has served with Word of Life for sixteen years as the founder and field director of their ministry in Australia which includes a national camping, Bible College, and youth club program. Concerning the new roles he and his wife will play at WBC he states, "We are thrilled to be a part of the WBC faculty and thank God for the school's fine standards, scholarship, and spiritual commitment".

Mrs. "Scottie Hillis

B.A. — Columbia Bible College

At the age of eight Mrs. Hillis became convinced of her need for a Saviour at a series of special evangelistic meetings held by her church and at age thirteen dedicated her life to the Lord for full-time Christian service. She and her husband were led to Word of Life with whom they have worked for the past sixteen years, fourteen of these years being spent in Australia. She enjoyed the close contact with the girls in the Bible Institute there, and hopes to do the same at WBC as Dean of Women, helping "her girls" to develop godly thinking patterns in their lives.

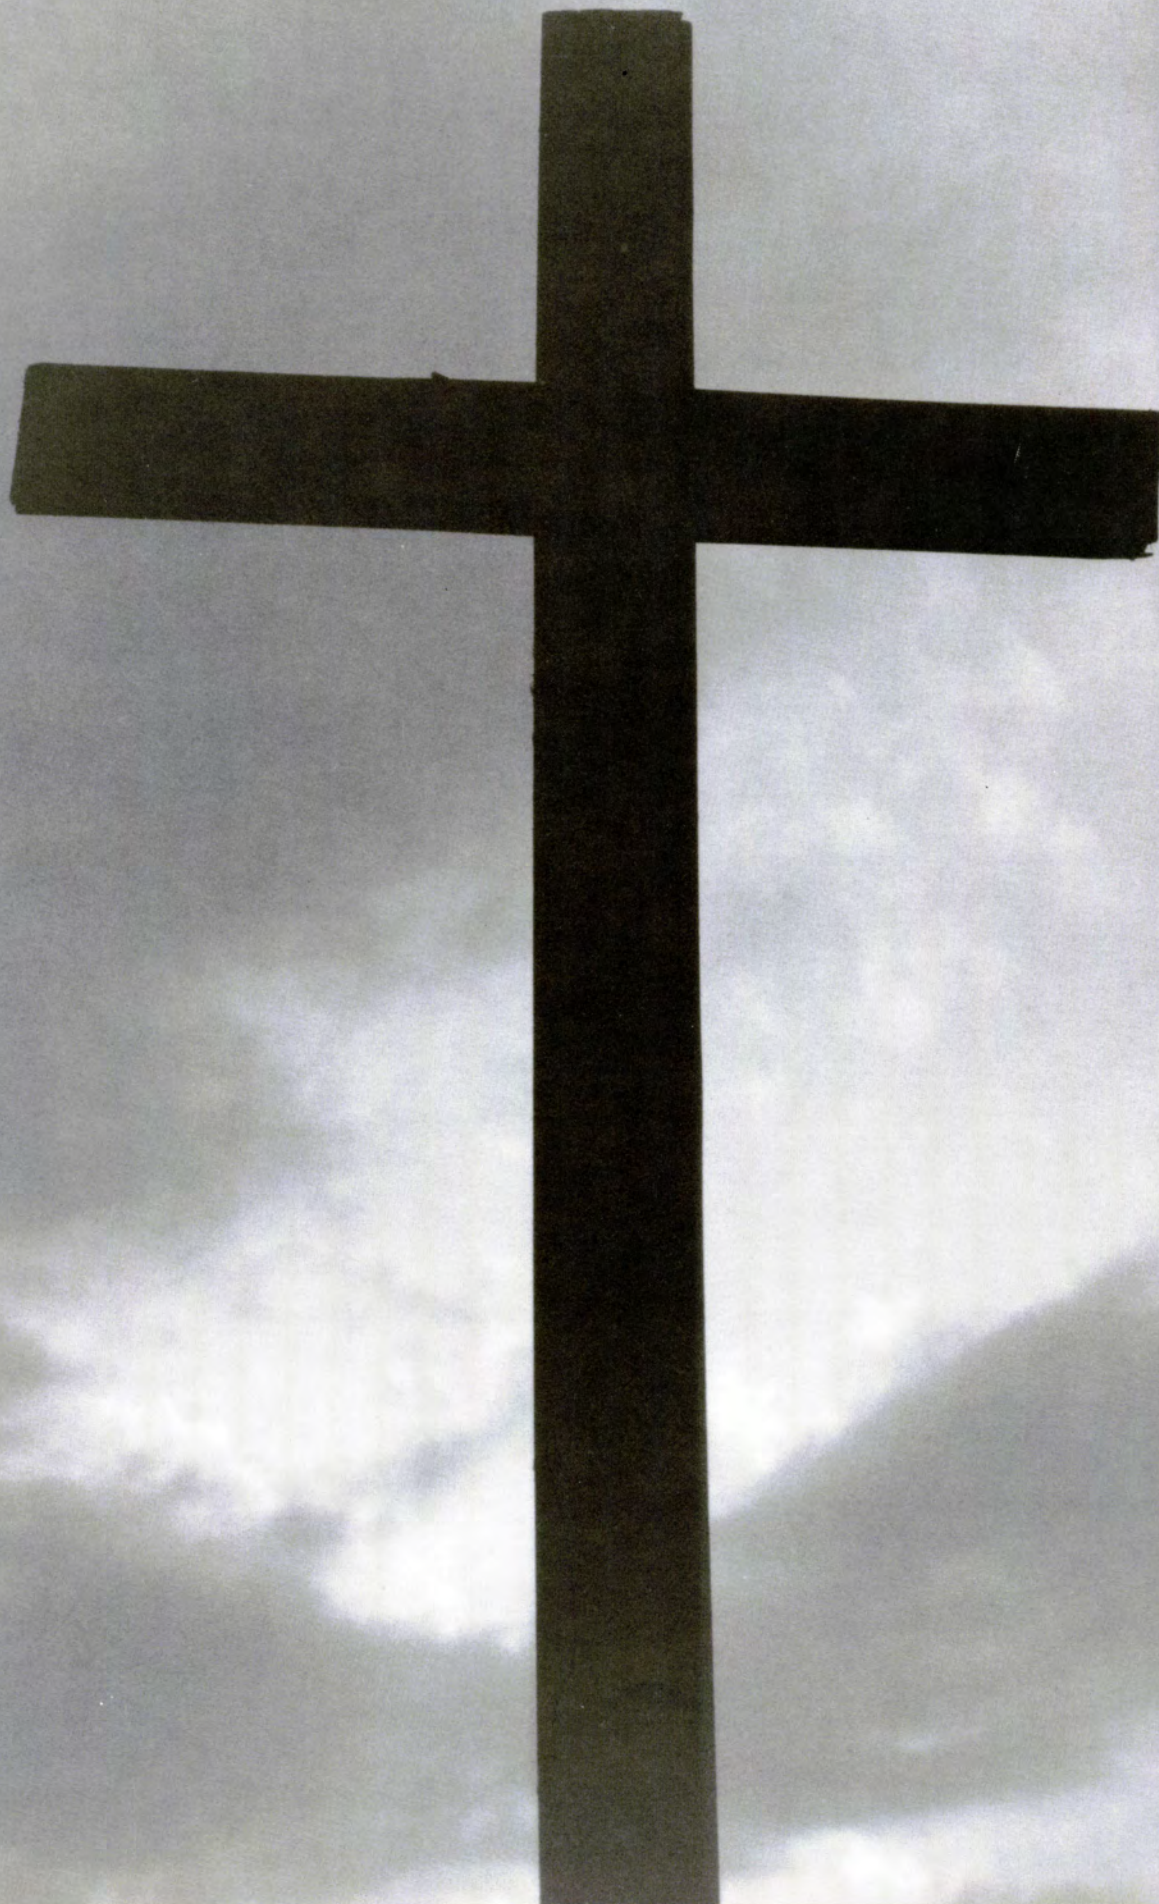

Dr. Don Hillis

Graduate — The Bible Institute of Los Angeles; Wheaton College; Honorary D.D. — Talbot Theological Seminary.

Born of godly parents, Dr. Hillis accepted Christ as a sophomore in high school under the preaching of George Bennard, writer of "The Old Rugged Cross." While at The Bible Institute of Los Angeles he felt God calling him to India as a missionary, serving there for thirteen years with TEAM. Writing is his hobby and he has authored several books. He states: "My goal is to know Him, to make Him known, and along the way try to promote His program of World Evangelization."

Sports

I am really thankful for the opportunity I have had these past three years to play soccer at WBC. I know that in each season, God showed me different areas in my life that needed His attention. The relationships I've built with other players and Coach Wheeler are ones that I thank God for because they have made a definite impact on my life. I have been challenged through soccer by such concepts as commitment, diligence, perseverance, and communication. Whatever is worth doing, is worth doing your best! That's a lesson I'll never forget.

The 1984 Cougar Soccer team finished the season with a record of 4-12, including a 1-6 mark in the Conference. What the record does not indicate was the main reason for the disappointing season — injuries. Injuries are part and parcel of athletics, but the severity of the injuries left the squad decimated for the major portion of the season.

Only 14 players initially came out for the team, and after winning two of the first three games, the roof literally fell in. In five straight games players were lost for the season due to serious injury. At times it was difficult to field the full complement of the players due to lack of personnel. A special thanks must go to various members of the student body who filled in at a short notice, thus enabling the Cougars to play competitive teams.

In spite of all the adversity, the morale of the team remained high. The perserverance and determination shown proved that this team had character (with a capital "C"). Lessons learned throughout the course of the season involved commitment, perserverance, and the need for unity.

As the coach, I was extremely proud of the way the guys responded to the challenge week after week. The trials successfully overcome will keep each one of them in good stead in the years to come.

The Cougars Basketball Teams won their season opener against Lancaster Bible College, but then lost six games. However, none of the losses were league games. After compiling a 2-6 record the Cougars regrouped winning four of the next five to finish the first half with a 6-7 overall and 3-1 league record (NAACC).

In the first half of the season, several Cougars have excelled. Tim Webster, senior guard and co-captain, broke the alltime WBC record for assists of 360.

Chris Graham is leading the team in averaging 24.9 points and 12.1 rebounds per game.

Steve Salvas and Bobby Burkhart have been a great combination, averaging 23 points and 15 rebounds together.

The outlook for the second half looks good. The Cougars can be expected to do even better.

The greatest lesson I've learned in my three seasons on the basketball team at WBC is the need for endurance. During my time here I have experienced many discouragements and setbacks on the court. Yet by being patient and choosing to endure through these rough times, I have been able to share in many unexpected victories. My goal is to apply this same principle to the rest of my life by choosing to run with patience the race which God has set before me. (Heb. 12:1-2)

1984 WBC BASEBALL REPORT

The 1984 baseball team finished the season with a record of 16-16. This was the most wins ever for a WBC team. No NACC Championship was decided because of the number of rainouts, but WBC compiled a record of 8-2 in Conference and Tournament play, while claiming the Tournament title. This was by far the strongest non-conference schedule ever played, and the team as a whole did a great job against the high calibre competition. Three players, Tim Fowler, Gary Irwin, and Randal Pelton, received All-Conference recognition, and Lance Sparks was named NACC Coach-of-the-Year. Team awards were as follows:

MVP — Tim Fowler

Rookie-of-the-Year — Doug Sweigert

Coach's Award — Gary Irwin

Baseball '84

Baseball provides opportunities for personal interaction. As a player at WBC I was not only able to encourage and communicate my teammates. Playing baseball has allowed direct confrontation with success and failure. This confrontation provides teaching situations that the Lord can use in a player's life as that life is yielded to Him. Baseball has been used of God to build inner character in my life and also gives potential for witnessing. Opposing players have been willing to listen as we share our faith.

Just as renewed enthusiasm abounds among the staff, faculty, and students, so a new excitement is felt among this year's cheerleading squad. We, as cheerleaders, feel keenly our responsibility to encourage school spirit and to support the athletic teams. Homecoming — a WBC first! — exhibited the school's spirited support of our team, a spirit that our cheerleading squad plans to keep alive for years to come. Our goal is that our cheerleading exemplify an external display of our internal zeal. WE'VE GOT SPIRIT. S-P-I-R-I-T, SPIRIT!

Cheerleaders

It was a banner year for the 1984 Volleyball team at WBC. Going undefeated in the regular season to become the champions of the Eastern Division of the Crusade Athletic League, they advanced to the semi-final round in the playoffs before losing to First Baptist of New Carrollton. Several times during the year the team fell behind early in a match, but pulled together each time to come out a winner. Teamwork played an important part in these victories, and this is what accounted for a successful season.

Christ said in John 15:12—“This is my commandment that ye love one another, as I have loved you.” I fell short in keeping this commandment for many years. I went so long in this manner that God had to deal with me to teach me “how” to love. I shall never forget it because I lost two lovely friends as God chastened me.

God allowed Satan to have his way with me so I could see myself as God saw me. Believe me, it was like a trip to Hades. The only hope that I had was “The Love of Christ” for me. I looked back at the cross where there was payment for my sins, and then the Holy Spirit brought these words to my remembrance: Matt. 5:23 “... If thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath anything against thee, 24 Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.”

1 John 1:9 If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.”

God gives us a chance to judge ourselves, but if we fail to do so He will deal with us. His judging is painful.

When God says to love Him with all your heart and to “love one another as I have loved you,” He means just that. This is the fulfilling of the Law.

The President's Address on John 15

There are certain words that become part of the Christian's vocabulary and because of their repetition can lose their significance. One such word is "relationships". There is much talk on Christian campuses about "building meaningful relationships." The Lord Jesus Christ talked about three relationships the believer has on earth in the fifteenth chapter of the Gospel of John. The first one is in verses 1-11 which is our relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. The second one is in verses 12-17 which is our relationship with believers. The third one is in verses 18-27 which is our relationship with the world.

In verses 1-11 we have the most important relationship which is given in the analogy of the Vine and the Branches. The key thought is not "bearing fruit" or "becoming a Christian" but "abiding". The word "abide" appears ten times and Jesus Christ says that the key to our relating to Him is "abiding". How well I remember a Christian father who sobbed and sobbed upon the shoulders of his son who was just sentenced 20 years to life in prison in Virginia. Having heard the sentence the father cried, "O my son, if only I could have imparted to you my life and my desires — if only I could put my life into you that you might become the man I had intended you to be." I wonder how many times our Saviour with an aching heart says the same to His wayward children. As the True Vine He has imparted His life to us that we might become the men and women of God He wants us to be. But all too often He must say, "but when I look over your life I don't see the product I had in mind." John 15:1-11 is written that we might be the people of God He wants us to be. The three keys to that abiding are: (1) to be cleansed by the Word (v. 3); (2) controlled by the Spirit (v. 4,5); and (3) committed to obedience (v. 10). The results of our abiding in Christ are: (1) answered prayer (v. 7); (2) demonstrated discipleship (v. 8);

(3) a deeper expression of Christ's love (9,10); and (4) fullness of joy (v. 11).

In verses 12-17 we have the second major relationship which is the Christian's relationship to other Christians which should result in friendship. The two key words are love (4 times) and friends (3 times). Our Lord wants us to have deep friendships based on His love. Verses 12-17 should be looked upon as a sandwich with love as the bread and 4 layers inside. All the commandments which Jesus gave are reduced to one — "This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you." (v. 12). This loving friendship relationship is characterized in four ways. First it is DEMONSTRATED BY SACRIFICE (v. 13). The greatest expression of love is to lay down your life for that person — it is the ultimate sacrifice. Yet, we know the Lord had something more in mind than this for you can only lay down your life once, but we are commanded to keep on loving one another. No doubt He means that we are to delight in going out of our way for our friends which becomes a great delight to our hearts. Secondly, a good friend is DEDICATED TO SPECIFICS (v. 14). You don't hassle over basic philosophy of life or ministry with a good friend — you agree in heart and you have common goals and purposes. Thirdly, there is the DISCUSSION OF SECRETS (v. 15). Jesus says, Men, I no longer consider you as servants for "the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth; but I have called you friends for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you." We can share our secrets with our loving friends without fear of our confidences being betrayed. Remember in Genesis when God came to Abraham in the garb of a man saying, "Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do?" The answer was no! Why? Because Abraham was called the Friend of God and with a friend, there is a discussion of secrets! Fourthly, with a friend, there is a DESIRE FOR SUCCESS (v. 16). Our Lord Jesus was committed to their success — being all that God wanted them to be! As the hymn says: "There's not a friend like the lowly Jesus, No not one! No, not one!" But thank God for those abiding in Christ through whom He lives His life and who become good friends based on our love relationship with Him!

In verses 18-27 the subject changes from "love" to "hate"; from "friends" to "enemies". It has to do with the believer's relationship to the world system. We are to expect rejection, hostility, even to be killed because of our union with Jesus Christ. Our response to this treatment is to "bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them who despitefully use you, and persecute you." (Matthew 5:44).

We fulfill this verse by (1) depending upon the ministry of the Holy Spirit (v. 26), (2) declaring the message of Jesus Christ (v. 27) and (3) demonstrating the magnificence of God the Father (16:1). We are to keep looking up to the True Vine who desires to live His life through us; to look around for those friends He brings to us that encourage and support us; to keep walking ahead even as the world around rejects us! The Christian is to be a living testimony ready for service or sacrifice!

A true story is told of a seminary student in Hamburg, Germany who stepped into the President's office and announced, "I quit". The demand was too great. The President asked for three minutes of his time and led the student to a large oil painting on the wall of the student's lounge. Centered in the picture was an ox. On one side was a plow, a symbol of service; on the other side an altar, a symbol of sacrifice. Under the picture was this caption, "Ready for either or both." For several minutes the student stood as though under a spell. The implication was only too clear, a true servant of God must be ready for either service or sacrifice. The student returned to the President's office and said, "I've changed my mind." May we, too, press on in the midst of a Christ-rejecting society and count it all loss that we might hear Him say "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

THE LOVE OF GOD

*The love of God is greater far
Than tongue or pen can ever tell;
It goes beyond the highest star,
And reaches to the lowest hell.
The guilty pair, bowed down with care,
God gave His Son to win;
His erring child He reconciled,
And pardoned from his sin.*

*Could we with ink the ocean fill,
And were the skies of parchment
made;
Were ev'ry stalk on earth a quill,
And ev'ry man a scribe by trade;
To write the love of God above
Would drain the ocean dry.
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,
Tho' stretched from sky to sky.*

REFRAIN

*O love of God, how rich and pure!
How measureless and strong!
It shall forevermore endure —
The saints' and angels' song.*

Capital Bible Seminary

The objectives of Capital are based in large part on Paul's admonition to Timothy to "properly handle the Word of God" (2 Tim. 2:15). We place priority on the tools of exegesis and the exegetical process. We believe that proper exegesis and clear exposition of the Word of God are the basic ingredients of a spiritually successful ministry. With this is a firm commitment to ministry -- that is, the application of the truth of Scripture in a practical way to the needs of people.

Write or call to request information on our M.A., M.Div., Th.M. degrees or the Biblical Studies Certificate program.

with . . . The Love of Christ

For this reason I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, from whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, that He would grant you according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with might through His Spirit in the inner man, that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the width and length and depth and height — to know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God. Now to Him who is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us, to Him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.” (Ephesians 3: 14-21, NASV) and now may “The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all. Amen (II Corinthians 13:14, NASV)
